

SCORECARD

If you were honest, your score will reflect how you approach most of the major themes of this book. If you are an educator the questions are most relevant, but I believe parents, coaches, employers and youth workers can apply these themes as well. Here is my suggested scorecard for the quiz you just took.

If you scored...	Then you are likely...
12 - 36	A very savvy and highly skilled teacher, communicator or leader for this next generation. Keep doing what you're doing. They need the balance you bring.
37 - 61	Effective at knowing what a 21st century student needs, but may still over-function (or under-function) and diminish their growth. Seek to improve where you can.
62 - 86	An average leader for this new generation and will need to apply yourself to both understand and empathize with who they are and what they need from you.
87 - 111	A bit of an "Old School" leader who got stuck in past methods or traditions. To connect with today's young, you must learn new approaches and pedagogies.
112 - 120	An unashamed "Old School" leader who may have been around a long time, but also may be losing your effectiveness. This book will challenge you to grow.
